PRESS RELEASE

21 March 2017

World premiere of “Legendary Trunks – The Exhibition” at Beurs van Berlage, Amsterdam December 2017

From December 6th 2017, the Beurs van Berlage is proud to present the world premiere of “Legendary Trunks – The Exhibition”. Over 300 pieces of authentic Louis Vuitton trunks and other items dating as far back as the 1850’s, will be on display during this unique exhibition.

“Legendary Trunks – The Exhibition” is a fascinating journey through five generations of Louis Vuitton’s ground-breaking, innovative works of unparalleled craftsmanship, and the extraordinary adventures they made possible. The collection is one of the world’s biggest and is owned by a Swedish collector and produced by the Swedish company Nordic Exhibitions & Events Ltd

The collection includes rarities and trunks that were owned by, among others, the author Ernest Hemingway, President Frank D. Roosevelt, actress Judy Garland and many other celebrities. Several of the trunks have unique stories with links to historic world events such as, for example, the Titanic. “The Beurs van Berlage is very proud the organisers choose our venue for the world premiere of this outstanding exhibition. We are looking forward to welcome guests from all over the world to get to know this unique collection of Louis Vuitton trunks and other items. Each of them with a truly unique story, which suits so well with the rich history of our monumental venue”, says Michiel Lindenbergh, Beurs van Berlage’s Commercial Director.

“We are really looking forward to have our premiere in Amsterdam,” says Stefan Papangelis, MD of Nordic Exhibitions & Events Ltd. “The collection we have at our disposal is unique and our aim is to create a magical experience for the visitor that gives life to the stories about the legendary trunks.” The exhibition will open on December 6th at Beurs van Berlage, Amsterdam.
